Email Editor Redesign

The Email Editor has a fresh new look, offering a cleaner, more intuitive experience while keeping all previous functionality. No action is needed, just follow your usual steps to create or edit an email, and the updated editor will appear automatically.

What's new with the Email Editor?

Along with the visual redesign, we've introduced several enhancements to improve your editing experience.

Edit within the Workspace Area

You can now edit text directly within the workspace area, eliminating the need to be confined to an expanded panel for changes.

To edit text in the workspace area, add a Text cell and begin typing. A formatting panel will appear above the cell, giving you quick access to styling and formatting options as you make changes.

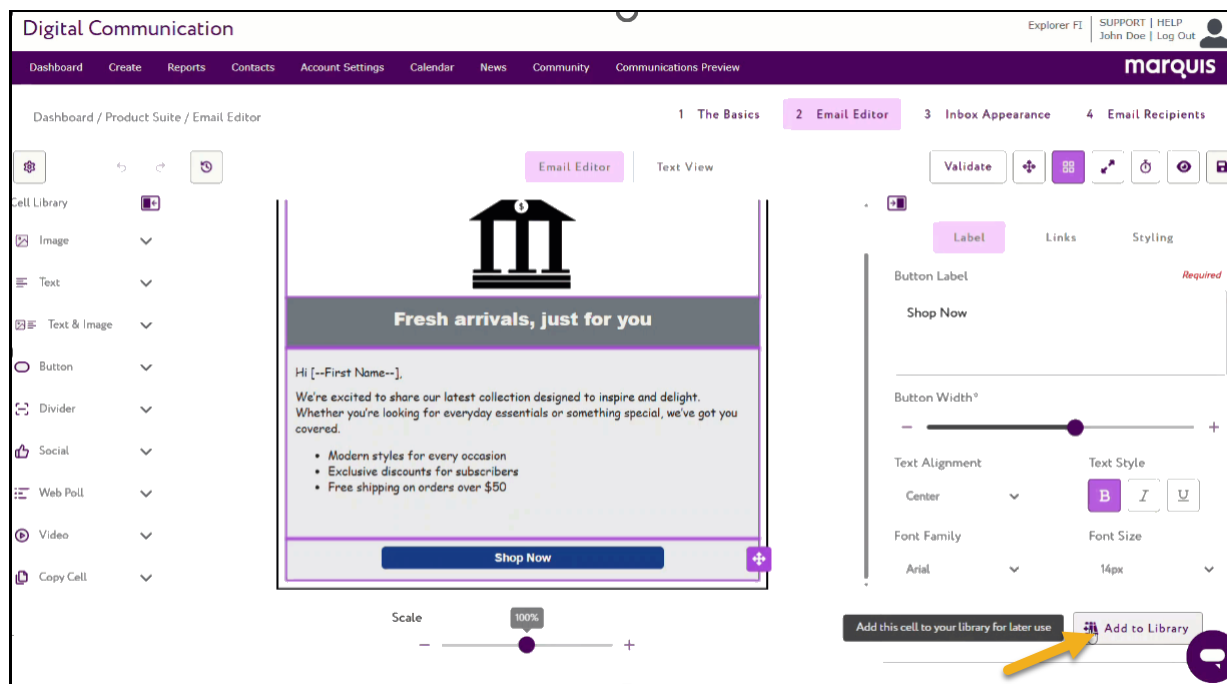

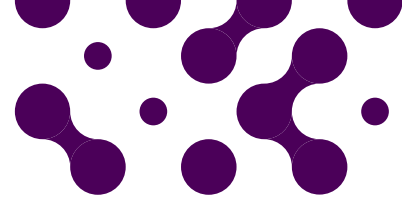

Reusable Library

You can now save cell content to a file system and drag them directly into other emails. This makes it easy to align styling and content across multiple campaigns.

While editing a cell, select Add to Library at the bottom of the cell properties panel to save it. Your saved cells will appear in the Cell Elements dropdown on the left. Use the dropdown arrow to view them, hover to preview, and drag and drop them onto your workspace area.

RELEASE NOTES

Saved cells are available at the account level, allowing all users in your account to access and reuse them. To edit or delete a saved cell, click the ellipsis icon in the library dropdown and choose the appropriate option.

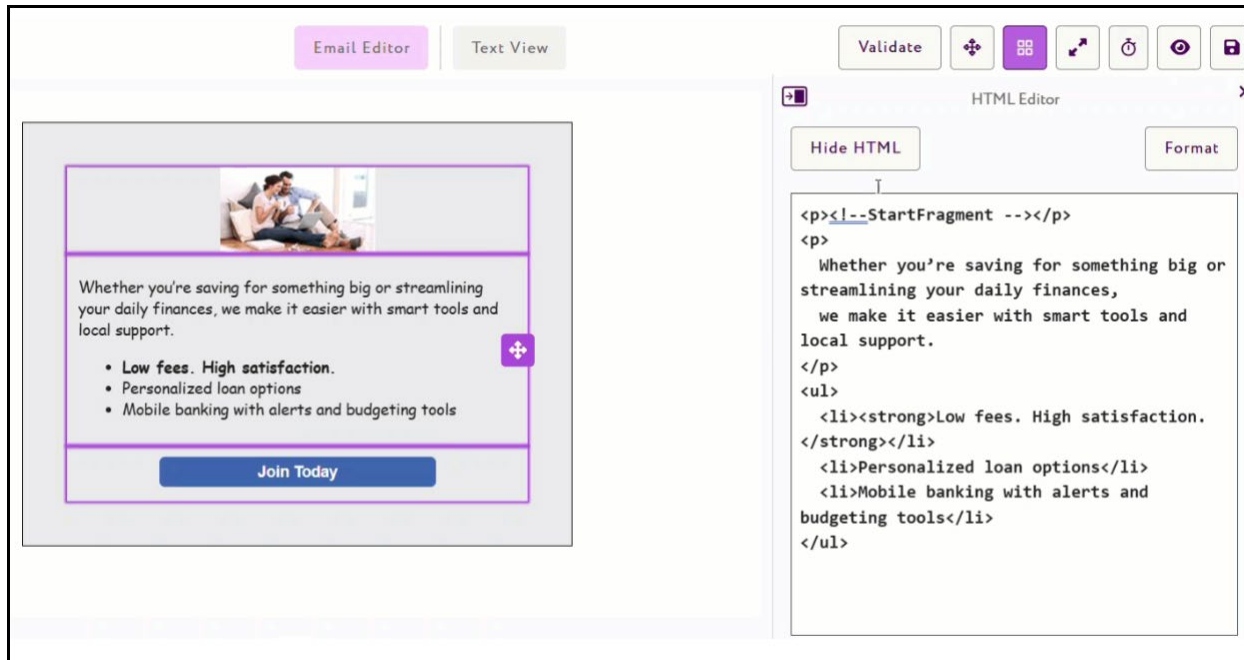

Text Cell HTML Improvements

We've enhanced the HTML editing experience for Text cells. Now, you can enter HTML code directly and see real-time updates as you type. This streamlines your workflow by eliminating pop-up interruptions and offering immediate visual feedback.

A new Format button is also available in the HTML editor to tidy up your code for better readability.
